If you're involved in an internet marketing business, then you've probably already come face-to-face with your enemy - "Time Wasting". What you need to know is that "Time Is Money". And this applies even more to the online world, than in regular business.

You see, anyone can become an online entrepreneur. It doesn't involve start-up capital or expensive equipment to start. A low grade PC and a net connection is all you need. And since cash isn't really a barrier, time-management has become all the more critical. Your challenge for success is simply to get more done - in less time. So what are the greatest online time wasters and what can you do to avoid them? This sounds simple. But stop and think how many times you retype the same old simple information.

Most people have cottoned on to automating their email signature, but you can go far beyond that when it comes to communicating words quickly. Get yourself a clickboard or shortcut extender. This will enable you to write much faster and prevent you from ever having to type the same thing twice.

I use this utility http://www.howtocorp.com/typepilot , but there are lots of other useful typing assistant utilities

available.
